

Molly Phillips, iDigBio E&O Coordinator, Florida Museum of Natural History, Bruce J. MacFadden, iDigBio Director of E&O, Florida Museum of Natural History, Mari Roberts, Volunteer Coordinator, New York Botanical Garden

The E&O Working Group (E&OWG):

1. Develops E&O activities of interest to ADBC
2. Coordinates E&O activities among iDigBio, TCNs, and other partnering projects
3. Shares E&O resources, tools, and training with the ADBC community and beyond.

The E&OWG has several projects on the horizon including a new webinar series...

E&O Webinar Series:

- Webinars will be 1 hour long
- Series with 6-8 webinars in 2016
- The purpose of the series will be to share resources, tools, and expertise centered on E&O activities for TCNs
- Audience: ADBC partners and the collections community

Help Choose Topics!

Vote by adding a tick mark to the right of your choice! (you can vote for more than one)
Have an idea for a webinar? Write in a topic below

Proposed Webinar Topics	Votes
Evaluating Impact for E&O Activities
Funding and Publication Opportunities in K-12
Integrating Citizen Science into High School Classrooms Using Notes from Nature
Social Media and Telepresence to Engage the Public
Social Networking Tools for Recruiting Volunteers
Using Symbiota to Engage Undergraduate Students
Project Aim-Up!
Using University Resources to Recruit Volunteers and Interns
Connecting Students to Citizen Science and Curated Collections: collectionseducation.org
Mapping Life—Quality Assessment of Novice vs. Expert Georeferencers
Worldwide Engagement for Digitizing Biocollections (WeDigBio) -- Successes and Lessons Learned from a Global Transcription Event
Public Participation in Digitizing Biodiversity Collections: How Can You Get Involved?
Using Collections to Engage Students with Autism Spectrum Disorder
Introduction to an Audience Series (bring in experts on different target audiences)
Demo of the Zooniverse Project Builder

Get Involved!

Attend: E&O Discussion Session at 1:30pm-2:45pm on November 5 in Gallery III

Learn more by visiting the E&OWG Wiki: https://www.idigbio.org/wiki/index.php/E%26O_Working_Group

Join the E&OWG by emailing mphillips@flmnh.ufl.edu